The Caller

Songs of the Season

Sing to the Lord a new song; Sing to the Lord, all the earth. Sing to the Lord, bless His name; Proclaim good tidings of His salvation from day to day.
Psalm 96:1-2

For the season of Epiphany, I got to pick out the hymns we are singing in church. Much like other times in the liturgical calendar, I was reminded of great songs that I love to sing. The Epiphany themes of light and discipleship are used throughout these musical pieces and I was again amazed at how profound the lyrics are. We are often tempted to sing without even listening to the words. But when we stop to pay attention, the words have an important message for us to hear.

One example is “We are Marching in the Light.” This was the sending hymn and Bobbi McClain convinced me it was necessary to dance a little bit in the aisle as we walked down. As members were singing loudly, I listened to the words because I knew they had something to teach me. What did it mean for me to march, dance, sing, and pray in God's light? For the other hymns, I also reflected on the fact that Jesus is our light and that he calls us to follow him.

In reality, a lot of these songs speak to the light that we have felt in our lives. This light is what continually calls us into discipleship as a response to the love and grace that we have received. Think of the classic hymn, "This Little Light of Mine." The lyrics say that Jesus gave me this light and I'm goin'a let it shine everywhere I go. It doesn't say anything about the special things that I have done or the failures of my life. No, it's all about what Jesus has done.

There was even a hymn that I put in twice on the calendar because it is so meaningful to me. When I was growing up in Salem, OR, my church repeated a lot of the same songs. There are a few that always make me think of that place. One of them is "Here I Am, Lord." It talks about the bigness of God but also God's faithfulness. The lyrics invite the singer to respond to Jesus.

Here I am, Lord. Is it I, Lord?
I have heard you calling in the night.

I will go, Lord, if you lead me.
I will hold your people in my heart.

Again, though, if you look at the lyrics you will notice who does all of the heavy lifting. Jesus has "borne his people's pain," "wept for love of them" and "has set a feast for us." The words say that we will be given hearts of love to replace our hearts of stone.

Today our nation and world seems especially dark and divided. We have forged hearts of stone instead of opening up our hearts to one another. As we move from the time after Epiphany into Lent, let's pay attention to the songs of each season and what they have to teach us. To listen to the light that has come down for all people. Then, we can sing those great hymns while knowing that we are asked to respond to Christ present in our world today. Our response though is not a forced one, but rather we can just say, "Here I am, Lord." Here I am and help me to hold all your people in my heart.

Love in a Time of Fear:

Recognizing Muslims as our Neighbors

All Are Welcome!

7:00 PM

Tuesday, February 28, 2017

Calvary Lutheran Church
2415 S 320th St,
Federal Way, WA 98003

How will the human race navigate through the challenges that face us?

Our response is "love of neighbor".

Love of neighbor is the core teaching of Islam, Christianity and all great faith traditions. Love is not having positive feelings but rather the act of seeking the well-being of your neighbor.

Statement

We are people of faith, respecting our differences and celebrating our common humanity. We commit to:

1. Seek out neighborly relationships with people of other faith and/or non-faith traditions.
2. Resist in ourselves and society exclusionist ideologies that contribute to the dehumanization of and violence toward others.
3. Work in the public arena for the human rights of all people.

We will have time for Questions and Answers as a part of the event.

Sponsored by Calvary Lutheran Church,
The Southwestern Washington Synod of the ELCA, and The Episcopal Diocese of Olympia.

PUB THEOLOGY

February 24th

4th Friday of the Month at 6:30 PM
Billy McHale's Restaurant (Federal Way)

Recommended Reading

As a follow-up to his January 15th Forum, "Sanctuary," here are books recommended by Kyle Franklin:

*The Bible, Christianity, & Homosexuality*

by Justin Cannon

This is a really easy read--about 50 pages. Justin gives a concise overview of the scriptures related to homosexuality. While it is true that he writes with a bias, it is still very academic and rooted in the pursuit of truth.

*Torn: Rescuing the Gospel from the Gays-vs-Christians Debate*

by Justin Lee

Justin Lee and I are pretty similar. We were both raised Southern Baptist and did much to change our orientations. While I never went through conversion therapy, I probably would have had I known about it. The book is an insider's look at the struggle of a young gay Christian. My favorite line from the book is "We can say God is loving and merciful, but if the church isn't loving and merciful, why would we be in any position to know that God is?"

*A Letter to My Congregation*

by Ken Wilson

This book chronicles Ken's journey from opposition to inclusion of LGBTQIA+ persons in his own (fairly conservative) congregation. He, too, references Scripture and has done a lot of research into the cultural context in which scriptures were written.

*Walking the Bridgeless Canyon: Repairing the Breach Between the Church and the LGBT Community*

by Kathy Baldock

This is a pretty thick book but it is PACKED with good information. Kathy writes from a place of absolute humility and genuineness. She was in the perfect Christian family (and was brutally judgmental toward the LGBTQIA+ Community). Then her husband had an affair and they began the divorce process. All of a sudden, she was knocked off of her pedestal (because she believed that a righteous person could not be divorced) and she began meeting lesbian and gay people. Her own curiosity prompted her to do research on the topic of homosexuality and society's response to it. The result is her book.

Looking Ahead to Lent

Lent 2017: Feasting with God

February 26, 10:15: All-Age Brunch and Lenten Calendar Creation Extravaganza

February 28, Noon, to March 1, Noon: Fasting with God

(Those who are able will forego food for 24 hours, as we empty our stomachs and open our hearts to the Spirit. We will also give the money we would have spent on meals to Lutheran World Hunger.)

March 1, Ash Wednesday, marks the beginning of the Season of Lent. This year we study Holy Communion in Luther's Small Catechism, and talk about "Feasting with God."

Activities for Feasting with God

We encourage you to participate in any and all of the following:

- ♦ Weekly Sunday Morning Worship: We explore what makes Holy Communion so important for us.
- ♦ Meal Groups: Hosted in members' homes at least two times in the Lenten season. Sign up to host if you are able to host one or more times.
- ♦ Lenten Book Reading: Bread and Wine: A Love Letter to Life around the Table with Recipes by Shauna Niequist (for those participating in Wednesday activities and Meal Groups)
- ♦ Wednesday, Noon Soup & Study: Feasting with God (God, Food, & Faith)
- ♦ Movies with a Moral: Chocolat and Babette's Feast (dates and times to be announced)
- ♦ Seder Celebration for the whole congregation in Holy Week

A huge round of thanks to the meal teams who served our Reach Out guys this year. The men expressed their appreciation for the wonderful meals. They were treated to many favorites, including pork roast, chicken rice casserole, fish sticks, turkey breast, meat loaf and gourmet mac & cheese. We served 25 meals each night for two weeks. It's a big group effort, many thanks to all of you who stepped up to contribute to the success of this program.
